THE CHICANO STUDIES RESEARCH CENTER
UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, LOS ANGELES

ANNOUNCES

ROCKEFELLER FOUNDATION
HUMANITIES FELLOWSHIPS

The Chicano Studies Research Center announces the availability of fellowships in the humanities for the 1992-93 academic year. Supported by a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation, these fellowships are available to scholars with interests in the general area of the development of Chicano culture and expression. Applicants should hold the appropriate terminal degree in their fields of research and teaching, normally the Ph.D.

The Chicano Studies Research Center at UCLA is one of four campus organized research units devoted to the promotion of research related to the experience of ethnic groups in the United States. Established in 1969, the CSRC supports research in several broad areas including the social sciences, education, public policy, the arts and the humanities. In addition, the CSRC publishes Aztlan, a nationally-known journal of Chicano Studies.

Awards are available for residency at the CSRC for periods from six to ten months with a maximum stipend of $35,000 plus research and travel expenses. For further information, contact Raymund A. Paredes, by mail: Chicano Studies Research Center 180 Haines Hall, Los Angeles, CA 90024; by phone: (213) 206-7411.

APPLICATION DEADLINE IS DECEMBER 31, 1991
