This is the first comprehensive annotated bibliography of all works by and about this nationally and internationally acclaimed Chicano writer. There are almost 900 annotated entries covering all the novels, anthologies, and non-fiction works, as well as critical analyses appearing in academic journals and book reviews appearing in daily newspapers. Maps of Anaya country, detailed indexes, a chronology of Anaya's career, and an introductory essay by one of our foremost Anaya scholars, Cesar A. Gonzalez-T., are included in this substantial new reference work.

Cesar A. Gonzalez-T. is a professor of English literature at San Diego Mesa College. Phyllis S. Morgan is a librarian working in Albuquerque, New Mexico. Both compilers have been given complete access to Rudolfo Anaya's personal files and archival materials at the University of New Mexico.
